...TEXT: agreed to by the parties in such transactions.

This article explains a typical securities lending transaction conducted in the US, will discuss the major regulations or industry customs, and set forth...

... will not discuss the statutes, regulations and case law relating to tax issues

THE TYPICAL TRANSACTION

Although securities lending can involve several parties acting in varying capacities, the most common type of transaction involves three participants: the lender, who has eligible securities to loan, the borrower, who borrows...

... which will offset trustee and custodial fees, and improve portfolio performance. The income produced per transaction is nominal, but the overall effect is substantial due to the volume of securities being...

...portfolio to an approved borrower in return for a fee.

As part of the overall transaction, the borrower must give collateral to the lender. The value of the collateral given must...

Section 220.16 of Regulation T states that a broker or dealer may borrow or lend securities for the purpose of making delivery of the...with respect to securities lending. Paragraph (b)(1) of the rule generally provides that a broker or dealer shall promptly obtain and maintain the physical possession or control of all fully-paid securities and excess margin securities carried by a broker or dealer for the account of customers. Since the definition of customer under Rule 15c3-3 is quite encompassing, a broker or dealer would not be able to enter into securities lending transactions with a customer...

... However, paragraph (b)(3) provides an exception to retaining physical possession by providing that a broker or dealer shall not be deemed to be in violation of the provisions of paragraph (b)(1) if the broker or dealer and the lender, at or before the time of the loan, enter into...

... securities actually borrowed at the time of the borrowing of the securities;

* Specifies that the broker or dealer (A) must provide to the lender, upon the execution of the agreement or...

... day exceeds 100 per cent of the collateral then held by the lender, the borrowing broker or dealer must provide additional collateral of the type described in proviso (iii)(A) above...

... Protection Act of 1970 may not protect the lender with respect to the securities loan transaction and that, therefore, the collateral delivered to the lender may constitute the only source of satisfaction of the broker's or dealer's obligation in the event the broker or dealer fails to return the securities.

This article explains a typical securities lending transaction conducted in the US, will discuss the major regulations or industry customs, and set forth...

... will not discuss the statutes, regulations and case law relating to tax issues

THE TYPICAL TRANSACTION

Although securities lending can involve several parties acting in varying capacities, the most common type of transaction involves three participants: the lender, who has eligible securities to loan, the borrower, who borrows...

... which will offset trustee and custodial fees, and improve portfolio performance. The income produced per transaction is nominal, but the overall effect is substantial due to the volume of securities being...

...portfolio to an approved borrower in return for a fee.

As part of the overall transaction, the borrower must give collateral to the lender. The value of the collateral given must...

Section 220.16 of Regulation T states that a broker or dealer may borrow or lend securities for the purpose of making delivery of the...with respect to securities lending. Paragraph (b)(1) of the rule generally provides that a broker or dealer shall promptly obtain and maintain the physical possession or control of all fully-paid securities and excess margin securities carried by a broker or dealer for the account of customers. Since the definition of customer under Rule 15c3-3 is quite encompassing, a broker or dealer would not be able to enter into securities lending transactions with a customer...

... However, paragraph (b)(3) provides an exception to retaining physical possession by providing that a broker or dealer shall not be deemed to be in violation of the provisions of paragraph (b)(1) if the broker or dealer and the lender, at or before the time of the loan, enter into...

... securities actually borrowed at the time of the borrowing of the securities;

* Specifies that the broker or dealer (A) must provide to the lender, upon the execution of the agreement or...

... day exceeds 100 per cent of the collateral then held by the lender, the borrowing broker or dealer must provide additional collateral of the type described in proviso (iii)(A) above...

... Protection Act of 1970 may not protect the lender with respect to the securities loan transaction and that, therefore, the collateral delivered to the lender may constitute the only source of satisfaction of the broker's or dealer's obligation in the event the broker or dealer fails to return the securities.

ARE OF CONCERN RISK OF LOSS

The participants in a securities lending transaction recognise that there are several risks inherent in such a transaction. Agreements between lenders and agents typically provide that the lender bears the risk of loss

... degree of coverage and depend on the parties' bargaining power and the economics of the transaction. Another element is the question of how losses in a securities lending program are allocated...regarding securities lending and also presents basic concepts and issues surrounding a typical securities lending transaction. The business is large and growing. It facilitates a need of the securities industry and...
